

Do beavers hibernate?

Contrary to common belief, beavers do not hibernate. Though they do reduce their activity and become more elusive in winter, they still have day-to-day activities beyond sleeping.

We're a bit similar. When the ponds start to freeze, we huddle around our computer screens, writing permits, forming partnerships, processing data, and a whole array of tasks that will bring 2020 and beyond a whole lot of...

Thanks for staying tuned!
